

ABSTRACT

The present invention features a product including a composition for application to the hair including a first hair conditioning agent, a second hair conditioning agent, and a third hair conditioning agent; wherein the product includes advertising stating that the first hair conditioning agent, the second hair conditioning agent, and the third hair conditioning agent condition different regions of the hair.